FPM Student Referral Policy

High quality research is a cornerstone of the philosophy of IMI New Delhi. One of the key ingredients for producing high quality research, is having a large FPM program with highly motivated full-time FPM students. IMI New Delhi would like to enlist the support of the current full-time FPM students to identify and attract good full-time FPM students to apply for admission. To incentivize our current full-time FPM students to do this, the following FPM student referral program will be implemented.

1) A current full-time FPM student will ask a potential full-time FPM student to apply to IMI New Delhi's FPM program through the normal application process.
2) The referring full-time FPM student should send an email to Chair Research & FPM mentioning the name of the candidate who has applied through their reference.
3) If the candidate is selected for admission as per the prevailing process, and joins the FPM program of IMI New Delhi as a full-time student, the current full-time FPM student referring them will become eligible for a referral incentive.
4) The referral incentive will be given to the referring full-time FPM student after the newly admitted full-time FPM student has successfully completed one academic term and has started the second academic term.
5) The referral incentive will correspond to the addition of INR 1,00,000 (One lac rupees) to the conference support grant of the referring full-time FPM student.
